

?HR and CSDR Data Specialist?

Ref.185146 - 05/12/2023 - Província Girona

Descripció de l'oferta

Multinational Industrial Group needs to incorporate an HR and CSDR Data Specialist for its 3 plants located in Spain. The regular place of work is in the region of Girona. Very good professional opportunity.

Funcions i requisits de la vacant

We are looking for a person interested in joining a Multinational Group, with different production centres in Spain, where you will have the opportunity to develop the company plans.

Some key duties include leading and participating in the development and implementation of best practices in people management process and culture. We are looking for someone who knows how to listen to and understand others, and can adapt and be relatable to a diverse range of stakeholders with a strong willingness to learn.

You will be responsible, in association with other company's HR teams, for ensuring that the businesses in Southern Europe comply with the new European Directive on corporate business sustainability, and periodically collate and prepare the data in line with the required deadlines. You will also be involved in and report on broader strategic KPIs on a periodic basis including the ?People Passionate? which identifies key deliverables for talent, succession, engagement and leadership capability. This will entail working closely with the management teams, across all businesses, ensuring the people initiatives are understood, and monitoring the objectives to ensure their achievement.

This is a stable position, with the opportunity to lead and coordinate projects across the business, supported by the Division's head office. You will also work with the Management team in each business to support their people plans and developing retention and attraction plans.
